

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The review of the local press is unavoidably crowded out this week.

The Grand Jury has refused to grant the application to incorporate Bloomsburg. Also Millin and Jerseytown.

An interesting article from the Philadelphia North American, a leading Republican paper, will be found on the second page.

WILLIAM L. MADDOCK & Co., dealers in fine groceries, No. 115 South Third Street (opposite the Girard Bank), Philadelphia.

Our readers will be interested in the information contained in the act for the establishment of a Poor House in this county, which we publish in another column.

The new Grocery Store of HENRY GIER, on Main Street, contains a varied and full assortment of articles kept in stores of this kind. His facilities for filling orders are ample, and as an additional inducement to purchasers, he offers to receive butter, eggs, meat, and produce in exchange for goods.

We suggest to our patrons to preserve their copies of the COLUMBIAN from the commencement of its publication, by placing them upon a regular file, or laying them aside in some secure place. This will enable them hereafter to refer to any subject of interest, and to have the numbers bound in regular volumes for preservation. A little attention or trouble in this behalf will secure to them a valuable record of news and of events.

We hear that Ticknor and Fields have become the custodians of the valuable copyrights of Mr. James Parton's popular biographies of Burr, Franklin, Jackson, and Butler, and that they will hereafter be his publisher—an arrangement which will doubtless prove mutually satisfactory, and from the facilities of publication enhance greatly Mr. Parton's reputation.

The "Executive Committee of the State Central Committee of the Union party of Maryland" held meetings in Baltimore, on Monday and Tuesday last, at which a resolution favoring the call for a State Convention was voted down, as was also a resolution in favor of continuing the present registry law and opposing its repeal, and a resolution endorsing the report of the Congressional Reconstruction Committee. A resolution in opposition to negro suffrage was adopted, and resolutions declaring that all the States are States in the Union, as before the Rebellion, and denying the power to exclude a State or govern it as a Territory; declaring the qualification of electors to be a reserved right of the States, with which Congress could not interfere by imposing universal suffrage; endorsing the reconstruction policy of President Johnson; and pledging support to Governor Swann, on the hypothesis that he is in full accord with the above platform, were also adopted.

CHOLERA.—TO THE PUBLIC.

The undersigned, having been requested by the Commissioners of Health of the City of New York to publish such information as may be of use to the people at large in view of the anticipated approach of an epidemic of cholera, would most earnestly call the attention of the public to the following statement of facts, and beg their careful consideration of the suggestions and advice.

Whatever differences of opinion may exist in regard to the cause and mode of propagation of the cholera, all now agree in their observations in this acknowledged fact, that its greatest ravages and most fearful mortality are among the filthy, the vicious, and the destitute, and in fact it is almost confined to the imprudent, the intemperate, and those who injure themselves by taking improper medicines.

Cleanliness, therefore, is of the first importance, both of your person and your houses, particularly your yards, sinks, privies, and cesspools, where fresh chloride of lime should be daily sprinkled, and the adjoining walls and fences surrounding them repeatedly whitewashed.

Be careful that there is no stagnant water either in your cellars or yards, and if your basements are damp, use fires in them frequently to burn up the foul air, and cause more perfect ventilation.

Remove all garbage at least once a day, and twice if possible, and permit nothing to remain on the premises to undergo decomposition.

Keep your houses well ventilated. Be temperate in all things, both in eating and drinking. Be temperate in exercise, in labor, both physical and mental. Keep good hours. Take proper food, in reasonable quantities, at proper times. Plainly cooked meats, with salted rice, and bread, and thoroughly cooked potatoes, should form the ordinary basis of diet.

Abstain from all unripe fruits, and stale or partially decayed vegetables; but above all, avoid excess of intoxicating drinks of every kind.

Wear flannel next the skin, and at all times maintain the natural temperature of the body by a sufficient amount of clothing. Avoid all exposure to sudden changes of temperature, and if accidentally exposed to a storm, remove your wet boots and clothing as soon as possible.

The cholera is not the necessarily fatal disease which it is commonly believed to be, but is a disease that is both preventable and curable. It is always preceded by symptoms of hunger and debility, with diarrhoea, and in this stage is almost always curable; but if neglected at this period, and the diarrhoea permitted to continue until collapse comes on, it is then almost always fatal.

At the very commencement of the disease go to bed, and stay there until you are well, with warm flannel around the body, warm bricks or bottles of hot water to the feet, if necessary, and if there is a tendency to vomit apply a mustard plaster over the stomach. If you have not got a feel, lie down on the floor and keep yourself warm, but by all means retain the horizontal position all the time, not even getting up to attend to the conveniences, but use a bed-pan or other convenience for that purpose, and immediately send for some qualified physician for advice. But above all things, abstain from taking any of the advertised nostrums that will flood the city, and swallow no medicines unless prescribed by a competent physician.

Fear and despondency are the great sources of danger in all epidemics, but more especially so in cholera than any other.

While, therefore, we would urge upon all the citizens the use of every prudential and precautionary measure, let them preserve a calm and composed state of mind, a cheerful heart, and dispel all fear; and by a confident trust in an all-wise and merciful Providence, we can reasonably hope to escape this scourge if we implicitly obey His laws.

NEW PAPER.—We have received the first number of the Columbian, published at Bloomsburg, Pa. It is a large sheet, and got up without regard to expense. Its professions of principles are rather vague and indefinite. It avows itself in favor of the Union, but does not seem to support the Union candidate for Governor, General Grant. Party lines have been more closely drawn in Columbia County than in any other county in the State, and as both parties have their papers, there would seem to be but a poor opening for a paper which supports neither; but of this the publisher is the best judge. We wish the new paper success in proportion to its merits.—Jerry Shore Advertiser.
